4 Bedroom, 2.00 Bathroom, 2,903 sqft

Residential on 10.02 Acres

Pueblo West, Pueblo, CO

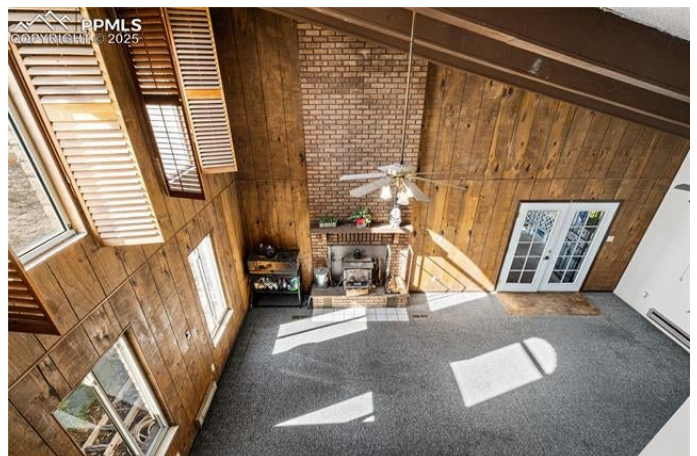

This is not just a home—it's a canvas stretched across ten wide acres. Vaulted beams rise overhead, giving the space an open sense of calm and quiet power. Four bedrooms, two baths, and a lofted bonus space offer room to breathe, while a full unfinished basement stands ready for what's next. To the west, the Greenhorn Mountains form your daily backdrop, and every evening the sky turns into a moving painting of color and light. Every wall feels like a picture frame, and the west wall practically begs to open even more to that view. Comfort is layered into every detail—wood, propane, and electric heat options, plus a classic coal furnace below. A recently installed well water pressure tank adds peace of mind and reliability to rural living. It's 1978 character meeting 21st-century ease: move-in ready today, with space to refine tomorrow. With roughly 2,876 square feet on ten acres, there's room to prototype the life you actually want—less city, less noise, more sky, more signal. This isn't a project; it's a platform. Open it up, light it in, live in it now, and evolve it as you go. Keep the bones, elevate the experience. Start here. How will you build forward?
